Blueroute EXIM

COMPANY PROFILE

Indian sourcing. Clearly considered.

Blueroute Exim is a merchant exporter and sourcing partner based in Gujarat, India.

We coordinate product requirements with suppliers and discuss quality, documentation and shipment needs for each enquiry.

01 A clear requirement

Product, specifications, quantity and destination give the sourcing discussion a useful starting point.

02 A considered proposal

Supplier options and commercial scope are reviewed against the needs of the particular enquiry.

03 An agreed next step

Samples, checks and shipment responsibilities are discussed before arrangements are confirmed.

Custom sourcing: share your product, intended use and destination for review.

WORKING TOGETHER

From requirement to proposal.

A practical sequence of information and decisions for a potential order. The scope of each stage is discussed for the individual enquiry.

01

Define the requirement

Share the product, intended use, written specification, quantity, packaging, destination and preferred timing. Include drawings or references where useful.

02

Review sourcing feasibility

Supplier availability and suitability are considered against the brief. Clarify essential requirements, acceptable alternatives and any information still needed.

03

Discuss the commercial proposal

Review price scope, quantity, packing, proposed timing, payment expectations and shipment responsibilities. Resolve assumptions before proceeding.

04

Align specifications and samples

Where a sample is needed, discuss its purpose, availability, cost and timing. Agree the written criteria or reference against which it will be assessed.

05

Agree checks and documents

Identify the inspection, testing or document review needed for the product and destination. Confirm the scope and arrangements for that enquiry.

06

Confirm shipment arrangements

Once the individual order and its scope are agreed, address packing, destination details, responsibilities and the documents required for that shipment.

START THE CONVERSATION

Bring us your requirement.

A defined product brief helps shape the next discussion. Include your company, product details, approximate quantity, destination and preferred timing.
